

THE PIOCHE WEEKLY RECORD.

SATURDAY...SEPTEMBER 22, 1877

Reports coming from Sanpete county, Utah, go to show that the settlers there are a very industrious people and are rewarded for their labor by most bountiful crops. Some of the settlers in said county are offering large quantities of grain for sale at remarkably low figures, and one farmer in that section offers to sell seven thousand bushels of wheat at fifty cents per bushel. Sevier county has a very large crop this year; in fact, we are informed by parties who recently passed through that section that the country thereabouts appears to be an immense granary and that some of the farmers are offering grain for sale, in lots of one thousand bushels, as low as forty cents per bushel. The fruit from Utah this year is very fine indeed, the flavor of which is fully equal to that of California fruit, if not superior. The religious papers of the far-off East inform us that the ire of the Lord is great against the Mormons, but judging from the above we should say he smiles upon them.

General McClellan has contributed an article upon the Eastern war to the North American Review. After a careful analysis of the situation down to the 14th of August he reaches the conclusion that the chances of ultimate success are largely in favor of the Russians.—[Exchange.]

The results of the war in the Eastern Hemisphere since the 14th of August only tend to confirm the general opinion that General McClellan does not know much about the military business. We expect some other would-be soldier, such as General John C. Fremont, the individual who kept the army of South-west Missouri waiting for three days until he had a diamond set in the hilt of his sword, will also be giving his ideas concerning the Eastern war, as a military man. Who can blame old "Fighting Jo" Hooker for smiling whenever he hears McClellan called a "military man."

The famine in the Shan Tung districts of China has attained to a fearful extent and intensity. Widows have sold themselves as slaves to obtain food and fathers have given away their daughters as slaves and concubines to keep them from dying of hunger. The very thatch of the houses, and mosses on stones have been eaten, and no living thing but man remains in the fields—beast of labor, dogs, cats, vermin, all have been devoured.

After careful inquiry among a number of church-going friends in different parts of the metropolis, Mayfair finds that no less than seventeen clergymen laid the emphasis on the last word in the 27th verse of the thirtieth chapter of the first book of Kings: "And he spake unto his son, saying, 'Saddle me an ass,' and they saddled him."

There will be issued in a few days, says the S. F. Alta, a book entitled "The Dance of Life," a criticism on Rufusson's "Dance of Death," in which both author and his book are roughly handled. The critic is a lady of San Francisco, of well-known ability.

The present officers of the State of New York notified the Albany Argus that they are anxious to be renominated. That paper now declares their renomination advisable. It is the only Democratic paper in that State which advocates that policy.

The S. F. Alta says a countryman from the mining districts noticing a large iron anchor in front of a ship-chandler's store on Market street, went inside and enquired who the man was who wielded that pick.

A Parliamentary return has just been issued showing the total of the British national debt April 1, 1877. It amounted to £775,873,713.

A patch of ground of 175 acres on Mr. John Guthrie's ranch in Humboldt county, Calif., yielded nine thousand bushels of wheat.

The yellow fever epidemic is Florida. The Government ought to take the Maopas murderers there for trial.

Here's how they stood at Creedmoor after the contest: British, 1,629; Yanks, 1,655.

Elko Independent: While at Tuscarora, Thursday, Mart. Smith showed us a letter from Frank Bell, at Reno, which read as follows: "To-day I start teams packing up poles, and will go right on with the job. I will have a telegraph line to Tuscarora in short order now; expect to go out there next week. In the mean time men will be put right on to complete the job as quick as possible."

The Eureka Sentinel says the Richmond furnaces have averaged, since they went into operation, an output of 14 tons of bullion daily to each smelter, which same is away above the average.

THE PISTOL AT BEAVER.

We glean the following facts concerning the shooting affray which recently took place at Beaver, Utah, from the Square-Dealer of the 14th inst. Powers was at one time a resident of this place:

The people residing on Main street were thrown into considerable excitement on Tuesday evening by the shooting of three men at Charley Von Behr's saloon, at about 10 o'clock. The writer had retired but was aroused by one of the neighbors who stated that Mike Powers had shot Big Smith. On going to the designated locality, we found that not only Big Smith, but Little Smith and Charley Behr had also been shot. Big Smith had a frightful looking bullet wound between the shoulders, Little Smith was shot almost in the center of the breast, and Behr had a bullet hole in the left leg below the knee. The wounds of the two Smiths looked as if they would produce death, being both over and in the direction of the vitals. A little examination, however, showed that the ball striking Little Smith on the breast bone had glanced around on a rib and lodged under the left arm. The frightful hole between Big Smith's shoulders looked as if the ball (No. 44 Colt's revolver) had passed directly into the cavity of the body in the direction of the lungs. He was in a great deal of pain and thought he was going to die. Upon the physicians thoroughly examining the wound it was disclosed although severe, it was not necessarily a fatal one. The lungs had not been penetrated by the ball, and the probabilities were that it had not entered the cavity of the body. His respiration was not impaired and the circulation was all right.

As far as we have been able to ascertain there was no cause for the difficulty beyond the fact that Powers was crazy drunk, and at such times is big on the fight. It is said that he declared his purpose in the evening previous to the affray to kill somebody, but did not want to hurt any of his friends. The circumstances immediately connected with the shooting, as we learn them from those present, are of a trivial character, and were substantially as follows: The three wounded men and one or two others were drinking beer and talking in German when Powers came in. He asked the crowd to drink, and Little Smith in drinking, responded in the usual manner, in German. This displeased Powers, and some words passed between him and Smith in relation to the discourtesy. Our informant says that Smith apologized and that Powers expressed himself satisfied, but commenced to fire immediately afterwards without giving the least warning. Little Smith was standing at the counter and fell on the floor when struck. Big Smith had turned away and was near the store in the corner of the room when fired upon with his back evidently turned toward his assailant. Von Behr states that at this juncture Powers turned to him and said, "now, damn you, I'll finish you too," and exploded a cap in his face. Behr threw a bucket of water in his assailant's face and then fled into the adjoining room. As he was passing through the door he received his wound in the leg, already mentioned. After the shooting Powers went to his house on the opposite side of the street, blew out the lights and went to bed. Early on the next morning he surrendered to Sheriff Coombs without offering the least resistance and is now held a prisoner. Powers has not yet had his examination.

A MURDERER ACQUITTED.—From a reliable source we learn that one-armed Davis, the slayer of Big Frank Marston, at Bodie, some time ago, was acquitted by an intelligent (?) jury at Bridgeport on Tuesday last. Immediately upon the verdict being read, Davis declared that he would at once return to his old stamping grounds, despite the remonstrance of his friends. He stated that he would like to see any a-b-o-b-h touch or lay hands on him, after the law justified his conduct. The people at Bodie and Aurora are wild with indignation at the result of the murder-trial. They denounce Judge, jury and all who were connected with setting this man at liberty. Eye witnesses assert that Davis committed one of the most cold blooded murders on record. The good citizens of Bodie are aroused, and if Davis carries out his determination of visiting that camp, the result may prove very unsatisfactory to him. The peaceable classes at Bodie have had a surfeit of lawlessness in their midst, and will adopt stringent measures against the recurrence of the past six months. The teamster who was shot by Dr. Rodgers, at Belleville, on the 21 instant is reported to be in a dying condition. His wife passed through Carson on Thursday to wait on her husband during his last moments. Rodgers is still at large. The feeling against him is growing more serious as his victim nears the grave.—[Carson Appeal.]

A physician was sent for in hot haste from Upper Austin to-day to attend a woman with a dislocated jaw. On his arrival he found the patient suffering acutely and investigation revealed the fact that a chunk of chewing gum had become lodged in a hollow tooth in her lower jaw and in her efforts to dislodge it she had thrown the upper jaw out of place. The doctor worked the bone back where it belonged and cried out the cause of the trouble was a cawbar, and the woman is now doing as well as could be expected. This should be an awful warning to gum-chewers. Of the girls who passed down Main street from school at noon to-day five out of six were chewing gum; this by actual count.—[Reveille.]

The Tuscarora Review says the main shaft of the Navajo mine is down 80 feet. The engine and hoisting machinery were then being erected very rapidly and were expected to be in running order last Tuesday.

The Suro Tunnel is in 17,950 feet.

LATEST NEWS BY MAIL.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 17.
Business to-day is partially suspended, and every preparation made to give the Presidential party a hearty welcome. They arrived at 12 o'clock. E. H. Murray introduced Mayor Jacobs, who spoke as follows: Mr. President: The people of Louisville, the metropolis of Kentucky, proud of their grand statesman, "Old Harry of the West," who uttered one of the noblest sentiments that ever fell from the lips of mortal man: "I would rather be right than be President," greet joyously his disciple, that President of the United States, who, at a critical period in the history of affairs, had the courage to say: "He serves his party best who serves his country best." Irrespective of party, race or sect, we welcome your Excellency gladly to our home, and bid you God speed in your labor of love, reconciliation and reform. President Hayes did not reply, except only to announce through Mayor Jacobs that he would address the people later in the day.

The President and escort arrived at the Galt House at 12:40. His Excellency and Mrs. Hayes were introduced to the people by General E. H. Murray. Rev. Stuart Robinson made the Welcome address. The remarks of Dr. Robinson, which were listened to by a vast concourse, were frequently met with outbursts of applause. The speech of the President was received with wild enthusiasm, thousands cheering themselves hoarse as they applauded the sentiments he uttered.

ROCKLIN, Sept. 15.
The citizens of Rocklin were thrown into a state of excitement about 3 o'clock this afternoon by the report that a woman was murdered at Sargent's ranch, about three miles from here. A posse of citizens, accompanied by the deputy sheriff, immediately drove out to the ranch. Upon entering the house a gasty sight met their gaze. The woman lay upon the floor, bathed in blood, dead, but, not yet cold. A gash upon the side of her head showed where the fatal blow had been struck. In another room was found a bloody ax, which had also been used to open several trunks, part of the contents of which lay scattered around the room. The husband was found dead in a field just outside the fence with four bullet holes in him. Sargent and the woman had been into Rocklin during the morning and returned together. Search failed to find him, but the report is now that Sargent has been found in a dying condition. Two men were seen running from the house towards Folsom about 2:30 o'clock by men who brought the news to Rocklin. The parties murdered were Louis Oden and wife. Three wagon loads of armed men have just left Rocklin to scour the country. The murders are known to be Chinamen.

ROCKLIN, Sept. 17.
This morning at 7 o'clock, the body of a murdered man was found in the vineyard near Sargent's house, and at 11 o'clock the body of a boy 8 years old, was found in the same vineyard. Both had been murdered with pistol shots. About 100 armed men are engaged in driving out all the Chinese in this neighborhood. The most intense excitement prevails.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.
The following dispatch was telegraphed to-day, after consultation with a number of leading citizens. To his Excellency, Governor Irwin, Sacramento: I exceedingly regret the necessity of calling your attention to the lawlessness and mob violence now for several days past taking place in the immediate vicinity of the State Capitol, in the adjoining county of Placer. I fail to notice that the authorities of that county have as yet made one attempt to suppress the armed bodies of men engaged in driving out and burning the property of Chinese residents. I desire to remind your Excellency that in a letter addressed to the Committee of Safety, you took occasion to intimate to that body that the prompt action taken by them prevented lawless acts from becoming widespread. I call your attention to lawlessness taking place in Placer county; that you may, by your promptness as chief executive of this State, prevent these outrages from becoming widespread. I have no desire to point out your plain duty. You have abundant precedent by recent occurrences, whereby the State and National authority have put down mob violence. Justice and humanity demand at your hands that protection be accorded under our government to the high and low. Even the Chinaman, who has come here under solemn treaty obligations, has a right to demand that his life and property shall be protected the same as that of the citizens of the most favored nations.

Respectfully, F. A. Bee.
Last night the entire Chinese quarter of Grass Valley, except one house, was burned. Over 40 buildings were destroyed; supposed to be the work of an incendiary. An attempt was made to accomplish the same purpose a few days ago. This forenoon a body of armed men left Roseville, Placer county, and proceeded upon the Auburn road, warning all Chinamen, numbering some 60, in seven camps visited, to leave before midnight under penalty of death. Some left at once. Twelve at Buckard's camp refused to leave, though threatened. The proceedings are conducted quietly, and no violence is offered. It is believed that by Wednesday not a Chinaman will remain in township No. 1. The refugees are mostly gathering in Folsom.

ROCKVILLE, Sept. 15.
The meeting last evening resulted in the Chinamen being notified to leave. This morning they left, to the number of 25, for Sacramento, quietly and un molested. A dozen or more of white men left here this morning to clear the Chinamen from the mines between this place and Folsom, in which district some 75 Chinamen are employed.

LONDON, Sept. 15.
A special edition of the Globe has a Paris dispatch saying: News has been received at the English Embassy that Sultan Rasha carried the remaining Russian positions in Shipka Pass this morning, inflicting enormous loss. This defeat is now entirely in possession of the Turks. Unless there is a special intimation of Providence the Russian invasion of Bulgaria is substantially at an end. Henceforth defensive measures will be resorted to to escape annihilation. England is uneasy, fearing that another campaign will involve Germany. Earnest efforts will be made to induce the Porte to offer fair terms of peace, but the enterprise is probably hopeless. Russia, after all her appalling losses, will be forced to commence another campaign where she began the present season.

TWO KINDS OF EXCAVATE.—The following incident happened in one of the public schools in this city: Teacher.—Define the word "excavate." Scholar.—"It means to hollow out." Teacher.—"Construct a sentence in which the word is properly used." Scholar.—"The baby excavates when it gets hurt."—[Phila. Bulletin.]

Farewell to Fly-time.

How doth the little busy fly
Improve each frosty hour,
In getting ready for to die
Before the tempests lower.
—Gold Hill News.

He turns four thousand eyes about
To find relief from woes,
Then goes and warms his little feet
On every ruddy nose.
—Enterprise.

And when the blast goes howling by,
And children have the coup,
He straightways lays him down to die
In vegetable soup.
—Va. Chronicle.

And when a man with his right hand
Assumes the fly to mack,
It escapes the blow, yet but to land
In its grave amidst the hash.
—Reveille.

And when the editor turns out
To take his morning dram,
The little fly doth tumble in
And cause the exclamation damn!

A close perusal of the reports of the bonanza mines will disclose some points of interest. In fact, there have been several strikes there of late, and recent developments go to show that very little is to-day known as to the real extent of the big bonanza. The developments on the 1300-foot level show it to be reaching up and away where no one suspected of its existence. The drift west, 1650-foot level, to connect with the main shaft, when it reaches the required depth, has made a wonderful development. Every one who saw where the tracings of the ore body led to porphyry were ready to swear that the western wall had been reached, when, lo! the drift above mentioned, after having been run but three feet in porphyry, again penetrated ore and has in vain hammered therein ever since, looking for the true west wall. Below this level limits to the ore encountered are wholly unknown, except to the east, where the clay wall was cut by the drift west on the 1750-foot level and from the C and O shaft. Should the vast ore body follow the strike of most others uncovered in the Comstock it will yet be found to extend far down and to the south, which is more than likely. But these developments, while they make known how little is known by the best of us as to real extent of the big bonanza, demonstrate, with others mentioned, that the beginning of the end of dividends in both the Consolidated Virginia and California has not yet been reached. The discoveries above mentioned have been supplemented by others on the 1600 and 1650-foot levels of the California, which have surprised every one who has seen them. The ore body is expanding all over and contracting nowhere. And then the old stopes on the 1500-foot level, which were closed at the time of the big fire, two years ago, have again been opened up, and an immense body of ore of high grade found in crosscut No. 2.—[Enterprise 15th.]

A RICH ENGLISH SILVER MINE.—It is little known that a really rich dividend paying silver mine (the Wheel Newton) is being developed at this time in England. Recently inspected by a Belgian official engineer, M. Hubert—according to his report, the lode is extensive and very rich in sulphide of silver, with visible show of silver at a great many points, even in compact veins of the metal from 1 to 2 inches thick. The main lode has been cut at five several points in two levels, and everywhere silver was found in paying quantities. As reduction works are not attached to the mine, nine parcels of ore, weighing in the aggregate 31 tons, 5 cwt., 2 qrs., 23 lbs., were recently sold for about $6,000. Of this ore one parcel of 5 tons, brought at the rate of $85 to the ton; another parcel of 7 cwt., gave at the rate of $2,672.50 to the ton.

Scene at a negro revival meeting in Charleston, S. C.: The negroes were shouting at a terrible rate, and calling on the Lord: "Ef you see Satan in my heart, pull him out and show him to my face. Fetch him out." One old negro who had been sitting very quietly in the window asked if he could say something, and being answered in the affirmative, he said: "Oh Lord, come down fra de roof. I will pay for the shingles of you break af." This was too much for the good ones; they thought that the "brother" was making fun of them, and one of the leading men of the congregation seized a pitecher that was standing on the table and hurled it at the brother in the window.

The height of sarcasm is touched by asking a loafer when he intends to take a vacation.
